I've tried display:inline-block and things like that. I have a different solution I have been thinking about, but I'd like some guidance on the way to go with this one. Currently the red bar displays below the green bar and they don't overlap. Check this fiddle: A: What you are trying to do is called "Floating", and you can achieve this by using a clearfix on the element. In your case it would be something like this: HTML Top middle d4474d7b8
