Abosen Time Teller [2022-Latest]

This is a time-telling and notification tool that combines the features of a alarm clock, desktop clock and audio recorder in a single program. To hear the time in time mode, you need to open the application, and choose the option for which you want to hear the time. You may also specify the language and speech rate, as well as the number of times the app should be read aloud. When you hear the time being spoken aloud, press the Clock button to set the alarm time and specify how to notify your friends about it. To show the alarm time on your desktop, press the Display button. Your notification time is activated as soon as you click on the clock icon in the system tray. You can specify the interval of time between each reading of the clock, set the Silent mode, and choose the system language used for speaking the time. When you shut down your computer, the alarm time is automatically reset. The time notifier remembers the last alarm time that you set and automatically reverts to that alarm time when you start your computer again. All of the program's features are managed by the configuration panel.
